

Understanding the Pharmacogenomics Report

The Header

The header of the Pharmacogenomics report details contact information for Qitek Labs and all patient demographic data.

Risk Management

The Risk Management section of the Pharmacogenomics report details specific risks that the physician and patient should be aware of. Qitek Labs will not give out clinical guidance if the physician contacts the laboratory. The physician is responsible for all interpretation and patient guidance.

Potentially Impacted Medications

The Potentially Impacted Medications section of the Pharmacogenomics report displays a table of categories, drug classes, and precautions that the physician and patient should be aware of. Qitek Labs will not give out clinical guidance if the physician contacts the laboratory. The physician is responsible for all interpretation and patient guidance.

Dosing Guidance

The Dosing Guidance section of the Pharmacogenomics report details and specific dosing precautions that the physician and patient should be aware of. Qitek Labs will not give out clinical guidance if the physician contacts the laboratory. The physician is responsible for all interpretation and patient guidance.

Test Details

The Test Details section of the Pharmacogenomics report details the specific genes, genotypes, phenotypes, and alleles tested during specimen processing.

Methodology

The Methods section of the Pharmacogenomics report discusses the methodology utilized for analysis.

Limitations

The Limitations section of the Pharmacogenomics report discusses limitations within the methodology utilized for analysis.